

Dream Play

A sensual science fictional fantasy with a sense of humor. Lance Halem has a wife who cares for him and three young children who he loves very much. Problem is as a traveling sales rep selling to retail with a territory that covers most of the state, Lance is not home much, one hundred and twenty days away more or less. The rest of the time he crisscrosses the state selling his products and living in motels. Evenings, when he isn't going to movies, is spent in his room, with his laptop, indulging in his first love, writing. During the past year Lance has been working on a screenplay, a fanciful yarn about an alien that comes to earth to experience life among humans. Little does Lance know that what he is writing is about to come true and take him on the adventure of his life in Dream Play.
