

Sent To Serve: The Chaplains of 9/11

Hundreds of public safety chaplains came to New York City following the terrorist attacks on September 11, 2001. They are like the public safety officers who run into towers while others are rushing out. They rush into others lives that have been destroyed by tragedy and provide comfort and care to the victims and those who assist them. You will find their heartfelt stories insightful, moving, and leave you with a sense of hope. Through this book you will learn what public safety chaplains do every day in our local communities through the window of 9/11.
